ARREST SUSPECT IN ROBBERY CASE

Police Hold Patrick Sweeney, Who Claims to be Iron Moulder, on Suspicion.

BURGLARIES IN SPICELAND

Several Business Houses Are Broken Into But Nothing of Value is Stolen.

A middle-aged man of possibly 35 years, giving his name as Patrick Sweeney and alleging to be an iron moulder of Boston, Mass., was arrested this afternoon near the Innis, Pearce furniture factory, by Policeman Wolters, suspected of being one of the two men who boldly entered several business houses in Spiceland last night, but were unsuccessful in their attempts to get much money.

Early this morning word was received at the L. E. & W. depot that several bold burglaries were attempted at Spiceland last night or early this morning and that the two men who were suspected were believed to be coming this way. The robbers entered the office at a lumber yard, a grocery store, a meat market and a drug store, but had little success. Word from Spiceland was to the effect that the burglars did not obtain much over one dollar and other invaluable things.

Later in the day word was received by the police that the two men who were believed to be guilty of the depredations had been seen at Mays. Later one of them was seen four miles this side of Sexton, according to word received here, and it was reported that the two had parted at Mays, each taking a separate course. Policeman Wolters remained in the northwest part of the city and shortly after two o'clock arrested Sweeney.

Sweeney answers the description of one of the men which was given to the local police with the exception that he has no mustache.

COLORED PREACHER ASKS FOR DIVORCE

The Rev. A. H. Shoemake Declares His Wife Often Did Not Get Breakfast Until 11 a.m.

SAYS THAT SHE SPOKE AT HIM

The Rev. Albert H. Shoemake, pastor of the Second Baptist church, filed suit against his wife, Ida Shoemake in the circuit court this afternoon. The complaint states that they were married May 20, 1899, and lived together until March 6, 1910. He gives as a reason for wanting a divorce that his wife would not prepare his meals at a proper time and that she would not get breakfast on some mornings before eleven o'clock. He alleges that she associated with persons of bad moral character and stayed away from home often for a long period of time and did not give any explanation for her absence. He also complains that she swore at him and called him mean names.

The divorce suit of Bertha McBee against Charles McBee has been sent to this county on a change of venue from Hancock county. She demands $1000 alimony.

Traction Officials Attend Inspection of Block Signal System.

Charles L. Henry, president of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company was a member of the company of State traction officials who viewed the inspection of the Kinneman block signal system on the Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company's lines near Plainfield. The inspection was made by a special committee appointed by the Railroad Commission of Indiana. In the report to the commission the committee was unable to make definite recommendations and asked for more time. They will hold another meeting on June 1.

J. WALTER WILSON IS VERSATILE MAN

Former Local Resident, Proved That he Can do Something Besides Direct Music.

HE IS MAKER OF SUIT CASES

In addition to being director of music at the Tabernacle church, a base soloist, a drum player, a performer on the flute and piccolo, a black face artist, a comedian and a few other things, J. Walter Wilson is a maker of suit cases, says the Columbus Republican. He knows he is because he has just finished making two and both are guaranteed to last as long as any ordinary man lives. They are absolutely baggage-proof, he says.

Mr. Wilson's father was a shoemaker and he made his young son sit on the bench and learn how to work with leather. As a result Mr. Wilson is an expert leather worker. Recently he had steel frames made for two suit cases. Then he went to a local tannery and bought enough cow hide of the finest harness leather grade for his work. He began the task of making the grips and it took him about seven weeks. Now he is through and he has satisfaction of knowing that the suit cases are hand made throughout and that they are well nigh indestructible. One of the suit cases Mr. Wilson kept for himself and the other he presented to M. T. Reeves.

J. K. GOWDY WINS SUIT

Jury Decides That Gasoline Engine Was Not Worth Anything.

A jury in the circuit court returned a verdict in the case of Oneal Brothers against John K. Gowdy for $115 in payment for a gasoline engine, late yesterday evening in favor of the defendant. The jury in other words held that the gasoline engine was balky and of no account, as Mr. Gowdy alleged in the trial. Oneal Brothers said that it was perfectly good only it had not been treated properly, since they had fed it coal oil instead of gasoline. The jury was out about two hours. Sparks & Gary represented Mr. Gowdy while J. W. Arbnckle was the attorney for the plaintiffs.

Enriue Bayon, Alleged Spanish Prisoner, Seeks Aid From Family in Rushville.

ALLEGES TO BE A RELATIVE

Wculd Have Local People Care For His Dear Daughter and Her 32,000 Pounds.

It is evidently the same old game that is attempted in a letter written by a person signing his name as Enriue Bayon of Valencia, Spain, that was received here by Mrs. J. R. Carmichael. The letter was addressed to Mr. J. Carmichael, now deceased. It is the plan of an alleged Spanish prisoner, who has suffered by taking sides in political intrigues and who now languishes in a Spanish prison.

The certain Mr. Bayon, according to the letter, was once an important personage in Spain, but suffered considerably when the Cuban trouble arose. He describes his relations to certain other men of great power and wealth in Spain, and purporting to be a very influential gentleman.

When the Cuban trouble came on, he took sides with the infant republic which proved very detrimental to him and which is the occasion of his present difficulty, so the letter says. He had to flee from Spain, so the epistle states and finally sought to conceal himself in London, England.

But here is where it gets interesting. While in London, he received word that his dear wife, Laura, had died in Spain and he rushes to the rescue of his only daughter, Bertha, regardless of his safety. His daughter, it seems from the letter, was in a certain Spanish convent. But lo, before he gets sight of Bertha, he is thrown into prison. He languishes in that underground prison now suffering the pangs of death. And the worst part of it is that he must remain there for eighteen years. It is impossible to state the time of the expiration of his term as the time which he went into the state of captivity is not named in the tear-stained letter. (Hear the chains rattling.)

It takes this Mr. Bayon some time and space to get to the point, which is that he had 32,000 pounds Sterling (whatever that is) and deposited it in the Bank of England before leaving for Spain. He hid the certificate of deposit in his portmanteau. It is stated that all of his property was confiscated by the government and he does not make it very clear where the certificate is at the present date. That is a very important detail.

Anyway the point which he finally arrives at is that he is very closely related to the local family and would very much like to make Mr. Carmichael guardian of his daughter and her property. He, of course, declares his great respect for the American branch of the family and says that he will send his dear Bertha here to be cared for by the Carmichael family, if they will only say the word. He does not fail to impress the fact that he is a very feeble man, as is evidenced by the crude handwriting, and will, as nature prescribes, die before his eighteen years is up. Mr. Bayon declares that he will settle a good part of his 32,000 pounds on the local family if they will but accord with his wishes.

FIRST CORN PLANTED.

William Jones telephoned to the Daily Republican office this afternoon that he was making preparations to plant corn at once. This is believed to be the first corn planted in the county this season.

ARGUE MOTION TO QUASH CHARGE

Attorneys Would Have the Affidavit Against Carthage Straw Beard Works Dismissed.

PRESIDENT OF COMPANY HERE

Is Alleged That Plant Offal Killed Fish—Myrtle Ryan Gets Divorce.

A motion to quash the affidavit against the paper board works at Carthage for polluting Big Blue river and killing the fish by turning the offal of their plant into the stream, was argued in the circuit court this morning. The question was taken under advisement by Judge Blair who will return a decision later. Will Hough of Greenfield and Smith, Cambren & Smith represented the straw board company. William P. Holliday of Detroit, president of the United States Board & Paper company, to which the Carthage factory belongs was here today in connection with the case.

There have been numerous complaints of residents along Big Blue river about the stream pollution which was practiced by the company. They allege that the offal of the plant, when turned into the river, killed all of the fish. Some time ago a representative of the State fish and game commissioner investigated the conditions and filed an affidavit against the company. The motion to quash was filed by the defendants a few weeks ago.

Shortly after dinner Judge Blair granted a divorce to Myrtle Ryan, a domestic. She testified that her husband, Cicero C. Ryan, had abandoned her and had refused to support her. She was granted the custody of her small son Charles.

FOREIGNERS QUIT WORK ON STREET

Interpreter Calls Strike When Asked to Work With the Rest of the Gang.

WORK IS STARTED IN SECOND

The foreigners employed by the Adams Construction company on the paving of Second street, quit shortly after noon today. Their quitting the job was somewhat in the nature of a strike and came because the interpreter for the gang refused to haul brick. The men had one among them who acted as the interpreter and when asked to get busy with a wheelbarrow said "Me no work" and ordered the whole bunch to quit. The men began laying brick in Second street this morning and trouble seemed to be brewing. The foreigners have been here about two weeks and it is said that they were not satisfied and had talked of quitting for some time. The work on the street will not be hampered much as the company is employing new men almost every day and has a large force without the foreigners.

A large number of Greenfield and Hancock county men organized a club, which will be known as the Hancock County Fish and Game Protective Association. The organization was completed at a meeting Wednesday night when officers were elected for the ensuing year. The articles of incorporation will be filed with the secretary of state at once.

FACTORY PRESIDENT HERE

W. F. Holliday of Detroit Head of Paper Board Works.

BIG WEDNESDAY IS POSTPONED

Merchants Decide That it is the Best Plan on Account of Lateness of Farm Work.

TO DECORATE FOR TRI KAPPAS

President Schricke "Uncorks Ginger Jar" and Predicts Great Things For Rushville.

The great diversity of presidents at the regular meeting of Rushville Retail Merchants Association in the court house assembly room last evening was possibly the most unusual thing about the session. In the absence of both the president and vice-president, Ben A. Cox, former president, assumed the duties which he had during the first year of the association. He had no more than opened the meeting when John J. Reardon, vice president, appeared. He approached the "chair" and was filling the place with becoming grace when the head of the association puffed into the room. Mr. Schricke took the gavel and the meeting was at last under way.

The chief thing done at the meeting last night was the indefinite postponement of "Big Wednesday." That was unanimously decided by the members of the association on account of the condition of the streets where the paving work is in progress and the fact that the farmers are very busy with their work. The matter was first brought up by Will Bliss who said that he did not believe a crowd could be attracted to the city at this season for various reasons. He stated that all of the improvements that are now being made are not yet completed and for that reason he did not believe that money should be spent now in an endeavor to bring people to Rushville.

The fact that the farmers are busier than they have been for some months was the chief reason for the postponement. Due to the bad weather of late the farmers are far behind with their corn planting and the theory was advanced that the farmers would not come to Rushville no matter what inducements were offered. Second street is practically impassable and that reason was given as a good one for continuing the bargain day.

It was Mr. Bliss' idea that the first "Big Wednesday" be held after the new decorative street lights have been completed. This was conceded to be a good idea to light the new lights on the night of the first bargain day of the season and make it a gala day.

Although this movement is only in the embryo, it will probably be carried out.

The mailing list for the association came up for a part of the discussion. The committee, composed of Ben A. Cox, Will Bliss and F. E. Woleott, reported that some progress had been made, but that the amount appropriated for the purpose was not enough if it was found that it would be necessary to drive over each of the routes. The committee was given further time for investigation.

The merchants voted unanimously to decorate the city profusely in black and white on Thursday and Friday, June 22 and 23, when the annual State convention of the Tri Kappa sorority will be held here and the local chapter will act as hostess. The matter was put before the meeting by Ben A. Cox who reported that a committee from the sorority had waited on him and asked that he learn the merchants' feeling in regard to the matter. Various plans of decoration were suggested and the pennant form with the three letters, "K."

JUST MAKING A FAIR BEGINNING

Ohio Legislative Bribery Probe Pushing Along.

MANY NEW FACTS COMING OUT

It is now stated that the startling evidence secured by the detectives against grafting legislators is only a small part of the sordid tale that will be unfolded before inquiry is ended.

Columbus, O., May 5.—Prosecuting Attorney Turner, who has been presenting legislative bribery evidence to the grand jury, declared: "We have just scratched the surface." When the grand jury meets again Monday it is believed that two or more legislators will be indicted at once and that other indictments will follow during the week. That these will be numerous was forecasted when Mr. Turner announced that the grand jury would let up until Monday in order that he and his assistants and Attorney General Hogan could examine into proffered evidence, involving many legislators.

From members of the assembly from anonymous letters and from detectives, a great amount of material, most of it usable, has been collected for the consideration of the grand jury. While indicating that there were developments to come and while stating clearly that the evidence secured by detectives while acting as lobbyists comprised only a small part of the clues secured, Turner refused to say just how many legislators would be indicted. There is every likelihood that the indictments will hit past as well as present members, and that the wet and dry campaigns which have been featured in recent sessions will furnish pay dirt in the corruption probe.

Among the witnesses before the grand jury were W. R. Hopkins and C. R. Shuler of Cleveland, who are interested in the passage of the Edwards subway bill, which would give subway companies practical control of streets for all purposes, car lines, sewers, telegraph and telephone lines, sewers, telegraph and telephone lines.

Mark Lauden, private secretary to former Governor Herrick and Opha Moore, secretary of the Manufacturers' association, were other witnesses. The association hired the Burns detectives three weeks ago to pose as lobbyists and put up a come-on game for the bribe takers.

Indicating that the grand jury knew about more corruption than was covered in the few cases which the detectives exposed, is the fact that Representative Nye was indicted on four different charges, in two of which it is said the detectives were not concerned.

"These indictments showed that we knew more about the bribery reports than was advanced by the detectives," said Prosecutor Turner. "The trials will commence May 15 if I can get through with the grand jury."

There has been talk of suspending the indicted members pending trial, but nothing has come of the suggestion.

TOO LITERAL

This Religious Enthusiast Dies of Overmuch Zeal.

Guadalajara, Mexico, May 5.—Ciriano Cornejo, a Texan Indian who took the part of Christ in the annual holy week passion play at the town of Texpan in the southern part of the state, is dead as the result of his insistence that his hands be nailed to the cross in the crucifixion scene. Cornejo was a religious enthusiast and was not content to be tied to the cross, as had been the custom in previous years.

He insisted that nails be driven through his hands. The nails were rusty and blood poisoning developed. For many years the passion play had been a feature of holy week observances among the Texpan Indians.

He Was a Heavy Drinker.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 5.—Augustus C. Martin, a timber buyer, committed suicide in the Maumee. He tied a teapot filled with stone to his neck, and shouting to a man at a distance: "Here I go, watch me," leaped into the half-flooded current. He was a heavy drinker, and it is supposed he tired of life on that account. He left a note weighted down with a stone, in which he said: "Good-by all, I'm done."

Avenged Prisoners' Wrongs.

St. Petersburg, May 5.—A girl who is not known to the police shot Efimoff, the prison inspector, with a revolver while he was sitting in a stall seat at Vologda. Efimoff was dangerously wounded. The girl escaped during the excitement which followed the shooting. Efimoff has been held responsible for the flogging of political prisoners in Vologda.

Discussion Closes Tomorrow Night.

Washington, May 5.—The end of the long-winded discussion of the farmers' free list bill in the house came in sight when Representative Underwood, majority floor leader, secured an agreement ending general debate on the measure tomorrow evening. This makes it probable that a vote will be reached Monday night.

COMPOUND CALLOUSES

Tells Splendid Cure for Them and All Foot Troubles.

A compound callosus is the secondary stage when it grows inward and presses on the nerves, causing intense pain. Callouses never cure themselves but always get worse, sometimes irritating the whole nervous system. The following is a most effective and speedy cure. Dissolve two tablespoonsfuls of Calocid in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give the desired results.) The soreness will disappear immediately and the callous can be easily peeled off. Repeat this for several nights. A little olive oil rubbed into skin is very beneficial.

This Calocid is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments. Bunions, corns and ingrowing nails get instant relief and are soon cured. Bad smelling and sore feet need but a few treatments. Calocid is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually enough to put the worst feet in fine condition. It will prove a blessing to persons who have been vainly trying ineffectual tablets and foot powders.

Didn't Hear the Train.

Greensburg, Ind., May 5.—George Ray, aged about forty, was instantly killed at New Point, eight miles east of this city. Escaping steam from a freight engine, around which he walked to cross the track, drowned the noise of an approaching passenger train, and he stepped directly in front of it.

HERE'S A NEW JOB FOR GOVERNOR OF KANSAS

Woman Mayor of Hunnewell Appeals for Help.

Topeka, Kan., May 5.—In the affairs of the city of Hunnewell, the only city in Kansas that has a woman mayor, Governor Stubbs and the attorney general may take a hand. Mrs. Alice Hilton, city clerk, and Mrs. Rosa Mosborn, city marshal, have appealed to the governor to oust the members of the city council because they are not acting properly, and they also ask for help in suppressing the liquor traffic in the town.

Mrs. Ella Wilson, the mayor, did not join in the request, although she is vitally interested. Mrs. Wilson called a meeting of the council for a vacant store room. The mayor, city clerk, Mrs. Hilton, and the marshal attended the meeting. While the three city officials were waiting for the rest of the council a note arrived from the five councilmen asking for the city's books. The five men were holding a council meeting in a hotel room without the mayor. The council allowed various city bills and transacted other business.

The women would like to know if this proceeding is legal and if the councilmen should not be ousted for improper action in office. Also those five men did not show proper respect to the mayor.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VI.—Second Quarter, For May 7, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxvi, 8-21. Memory Verses, 19, 20—Golden Text, Prov. xvi, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

As we consider the lives of these kings of Judah we must remember that the throne at Jerusalem is called the throne of the Lord, and those who reigned there were kings for the Lord their God (I Chron. xxix, 23; II Chron. ix, 8). There were eight kings of whom it is written that they "did right in the sight of the Lord," and this Uzziah, or Azariah, was one of the eight (verse 4; II Kings xv, 1-3). But they only did right in some measure, some more, some less, and all failed in many things. The time is still future when the twelve tribes shall be one kingdom and a king sitting on the throne of David at Jerusalem who shall reign in righteousness, bringing peace, quietness and assurance to all His people and to all the world (Ezek. xxxvii, 21, 22; Isa. xxxii, 1, 17).

But it shall be, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. "They shall call Jerusalem the throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered unto it, to the name of the Lord, to Jerusalem" (Jer. III, 17). At that day shall be said "The King of Israel, even Jehovah, is in the midst of thee; thou shalt not see evil any more" (Zeph. III, 15). "And Jehovah shall be king over all the earth" (Zech. xiv, 9). In those days the kingdom and nation that will not serve Israel shall perish and be utterly wasted (Isa. ix, 12). Although Uzziah reigned fifty-two years, his whole story is found in this one lesson chapter and in the first seven verses of II Kings xv. In his days Isaiah and Amos were the prophets, the Lord's messengers (Isa. i, 1; Amos i, 1), full of rebuke for sin, but also of prediction of a glorious future for Israel when she shall receive her Messiah. Every good king should turn our thoughts to the Son of God, the King of Israel (John i, 49), and their failures set Him forth more brightly as the one who will never fail nor be discouraged.

Uzziah seems to have been greatly helped by a prophet named Zechariah, who had visions of God (verse 5)—not the one who wrote "the book bearing his name, for he lived after the captivity, nor the one of II Chron. xxiv, 20, 21, who was stoned to death for his faithfulness. It is a great thing to see God, and this we can do in Jesus Christ, who said "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" (John xiv, 9). We can by the Spirit behold the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ (II Cor. iv, 4, 6), and thus we shall be enabled to help others to see Him, too, and know Him. While this prophet helped him he sought the Lord, and

God made him to prosper (verse 5). He seems to have been prospered through most of his reign. God helped him against his enemies, other nations brought gifts to him, and his name spread abroad (verses 7, 8). Thus God honors those who honor Him. It was so during part of the reign of Solomon when the queen of Sheba and all kings of the earth sought him and brought him gifts (II Chron. ix, 8, 9, 22-24). So it shall be in an unprecedented degree when Jesus Christ shall be King in Jerusalem. Then shall all nations, like the wise men from the east, bring their treasures unto Him (Isa. ix, 9-11).

Uzziah was so greatly blessed that he became self sufficient, strong in himself instead of in the Lord, and then he fell. He presumed to take upon him the office of a priest and to burn incense in the house of God, and the Lord smote him with leprosy, and he became a leper unto the day of his death and had to live in a separate house. The only King of Israel who will be a priest upon his throne will be the man whose name is the Branch (Zech. vi, 12, 13). He will be a priest forever after the order of Melchizedek, who was both priest and king (Gen. xiv, 18; Ps. cx, 4; Heb. vii, 1, 17).

If we are redeemed we are kings and priests unto God and shall reign with Christ when He reigns (Rev. i, 6; v, 9, 10). Back of this sin of Uzziah it is not difficult to see the great adversary who said "I will be like the Most High" and who said to Eve, "Ye shall be as gods" (Isa. xiv, 14; Gen. iii, 5). Humility, not pride, is the characteristic of a true child of God, realizing that we are not sufficient of ourselves to think anything as of ourselves, but our sufficiency is of God (II Cor. iii, 5). The only way for us is to be "strong in the Lord and in the power of His might," having no confidence in ourselves, for in us—that is, in our flesh—dwelleth no good thing (Eph. vi, 10; Phil. iii, 23; Rom. vii, 18). We have a great High Priest who is touched with a feeling of our infirmities and who is able to save to the uttermost all of those who come unto God by Him.

Let us rejoice in Him and serve Him with all humility, remembering to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with our God. All self righteousness, self sufficiency, pride and ambition to be somebody or something apart from Jesus Christ we must shun as we would the devil himself.

It is written of Uzziah that "as long as he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper" (verse 5). This is in accord with Josh. i, 7, 8; Ps. i, 1-3. True seeking is always according to Jer. xxix, 11, and the exhortations thereto are very plain in Isa. iv, 6; Zeph. ii, 3. Consider Hezekiah in II Chron. xxxi, 20, 21, and also see Ezra vii, 10.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 7, 1911.

Topic—Lessons from great lives—V. Ruth—Ruth i, 11-22 (Consecration meeting) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The story of Ruth is one of the most beautiful and inspiring to be found in history. At some time during the period of the Judges in Israel a famine prevailed in the land. A family of Bethlehem, consisting of Elimelech, his wife Naomi and their two sons, Mahlon and Chilion, being sore pressed, emigrated to Moab. Here Elimelech died, and after his decease the two sons married Moabitish wives, named respectively Orpah and Ruth. In ten years the sons also died, and Naomi resolved to return to Bethlehem. Ruth, after a most touching appeal, was allowed to return with her. They arrived at Bethlehem just at the beginning of the barley harvest, and Ruth, going out to glean, chance to go into the field of Boaz, a wealthy man and near kinsman of Elimelech, her father-in-law. A romantic courtship followed, and Boaz took Ruth to be his wife. She bore him a son, who was called Obed. This son became the father of Jesse, who was the father of David. Thus Ruth became the ancestress of Christ. Her life teaches many useful lessons, some of which are especially appropriate for a consecration service.

1. The life of Ruth teaches a lesson on kindness. Naomi was accompanied part of the way toward the land of Judah by her daughters-in-law. When the hour of separation came and she bade them return "each to her mother's house" she added, "The Lord deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me." They had been kind to their husbands—her sons—and had dealt kindly with her in her bereavements and loneliness. It was kindness manifested in the home, in the family, a sphere of life where there is much need of the manifestation of more kindness and mutual consideration. The word "kind" is related to "kin," and kindness may well begin in the home. But it should not end there. As Christians, inspired by the example of Christ, we should do to all men as we would have them do to us.

2. The life of Ruth teaches a lesson on constancy. In her plea not to be sent back from accompanying Naomi to her old home Ruth shows a constancy of friendship and of love that has seldom been equaled. For Naomi she was willing to leave her own land, her own people, her own gods, and to accept those of her mother-in-law. "Whither thou goest, I will go; * * * thy people shall be my people and thy God my God; where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me." Constant to death. Such constancy should characterize us in all the relations of life. It should especially be manifested in our religious lives. Christ wants just such constancy, such faithfulness, for He has said, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

3. The life of Ruth teaches a lesson on the profitableness of goodness. Of the life of Ruth it has been well said, "Human kindness, filial piety, affectionate constancy, uncompaining toil, true chastity, sweet patience, strong faith, noble generosity, simple piety—all are here, and they are all observed by God and are shown to be pleasing to Him, who rewards them in due time." Ruth made a good choice when she chose Naomi's God as her God. For all the goodness of her life she was abundantly rewarded. Peace and plenty and high honor were among the blessings that God bestowed upon her in this life and eternal happiness in the life to come. Let us imitate Ruth's noble example and learn the lessons taught to us by her simple and beautiful life.

Teddy.

An act in real life which touched the hearts of all who witnessed the following incident at a county convention of Christian Endeavorers in Pennsylvania will go far to dispel the idea that it is impossible to reach the "street gamin" and hold him.

One afternoon, while conducting a conference in a large Presbyterian church, I noticed a lad about ten years of age come down the aisle and take a seat in one of the front pews. His face was dirty, his clothing was in need of repair, and on his head was perched a cap that had seen better days.

At the close of my address the choristers sang an anthem, during which the boy in the pew, turning in his sleep and getting too close to the edge, dropped from the pew to the floor.

It was only then that I was told that the boy had no real home. Everybody in the town knew him as Teddy. His mother was dead; his father was a drunkard. He had no home training.

The second evening of the convention as I stepped to the platform to speak I noticed a little bouquet of roses on the pulpit and was told they were for me. Teddy had been there at 6 o'clock that evening and asked the janitor to place the roses on the pulpit for me.—A. J. Shartle, General Secretary, Pennsylvania Union.

subject for Sunday will be "Adam and Fallen Man." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—The feature film at the Palace tonight will be a Selig entitled "The Seminole's Sacrifice." It is the story of an English trader who barterers and buys an Indian squaw and departs with her to the shelter of the fort. The chief of the Seminoles becomes incensed at this sale and through the United States army forces the trader to marry her. The picture is based on the last Seminole war and is very interesting. Another good film will also be shown. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will offer a special program this evening with two Imp films and a Solax. One of the Imps, "A Sister's Sacrifice" is said to be an excellent drama, replete with pathetic incidents that are stirring in the extreme. The Solax, "A Costly Pledge" is also a drama of much merit. The other Imp, "You Saved My Life" is a dramatic story, in which the heroic work of one of the characters is the principal feature. A new illustrated song will be on the program.

The Star grand will present four pictures tonight. The first is a Powers entitled "A Wife's Love." It is a drama of great merit. The second picture is a comedy entitled "Little Dorothy." The third is a Thanhouser drama entitled "Divorce." It is a well plotted picture and a well directed blow at the divorce evil. You will be gratified and surprised when you see how the home was saved. A doll did it. The incident is taken from real life. The fourth picture is a comedy entitled "Waiting at the Church." As a humorous description of a man's efforts to find the right wife, this will command laughs a plenty when it hits the screen. Earl Robertson will sing "The Mississippi Dippy Dip."

The Portola Photoplay will have a Lubin and Kalem film for tonight and tomorrow. The Lubin, "His Best Girl After All" is a comedy-drama and is said to be a very clever picture. "The Mission Carrier" is the title of the Kalem film. The scenes of the picture are laid in California and deals with the missions of Old Mexico. The carrier is attacked by Cahillas Indians and a gallant rescue is shown. The picture is very dramatic and thrilling. Beginning next week a matinee will be given on Monday and Wednesday afternoons starting at two-thirty o'clock. These shows are for the benefit of the school children and others who can not go at night.

K. K." was decided to be preferable. Ben A. Cox said that certain dentists had come to him and asked that the time for the bargain days be changed from Wednesday to some other day, due to the fact that the dentists enjoy a half holiday on Wednesdays during the summer months. It was the expression of most of the members that all of the advertising of "Big Wednesday" which had been done so far would be lost if the day were changed. Mr. Bliss said that he would put the request in the form of a motion if the association wished to take some action on it, but it was decided that the dentists should first be solicited to join the association and then be allowed to fight their own case on the floor at a meeting of the association. The membership committee was ordered to get busy.

It was found that the committee appointed to look after a big banner to advertise "Big Wednesday" had done nothing so far and the members were instructed to look after the matter as soon as possible. Small pennants as streamers hung from the gables at each corner of the court house and extending to the fountains on either corner has been suggested as a good plan for advertising and they may be carried out.

After the regular business had been completed, President Schrichte addressing his question to the secretary, asked, "Any factories knocking at our door?" "No," was the reply.

"Well, we must be shaking the bushes occasionally," said Mr. Schrichte, "for there is a great day coming."

"We can not see the factories for the dust," was the assertion that one member ventured to make. This brought up the street question. Mr. Schrichte assured the members that the city council had ordered a street sweeper and that the dust problem would soon be settled.

After repeated efforts to get something out of the members for the good of the association, President Schrichte proceeded to "unearth the ginger jar." He exhorted the business men not to be afraid to voice an opinion. He declared that open debate and warm argument made men broad minded and that the argument of questions before the meeting would be for the betterment of the organization as well as each and every one of the individuals.

"The first man I hear of knocking on Rushville, I am going to call him down publicly," continued Mr. Schrichte. "Don't listen to a lot of old fogies. Rushville is the best town in the State and we are going to make it even a better one. If someone asks you about Rushville, point out its good qualities, for it has many.

When a man gets to the place where he thinks he is always right, he narrows down in the same old rut and believes that he is infallible. That sort of a man should be taken up in a balloon and turned loose without a parachute, so that he would have some sense jarred into him. If you men have an idea don't be afraid to get up and express it, it will make better men of you to have argued and even get mad, it will do you good. Then shake hands after the meeting. There are great things in store for Rushville."

PROMINENT MAN DIES.

Prof. Bush's reception and dance in the Auditorium hall, Wednesday night was a glowing success from every standpoint, says the Connersville News. The crowd was just large enough to fill the floor at every dance without crowding, and the gathering was as congenial as could be assembled if every guest had been picked with the most painstaking care.

The Auditorium orchestra supplied the dancers with music of the best, and the hours lifted their wings and flew in droves.

Guests were present from Indianapolis, Liberty, Brookville, Rushville, Milton, Cambridge City and New Castle and all of them apparently enjoyed the evening to the utmost.

PLANNING TO GO IN SPECIAL TRAIN

Rushville Knights Templar Will Attend Ascension Day Exercises at Knightstown.

TO BE HELD SUNDAY, MAY 21

Delegates to Grand Commandery to be in Session in Indianapolis, Are Appointed.

The Knights Templar of this city are making plans to attend Ascension day exercises which will be held at Knightstown on Sunday, May 21.
The local Knights have been invited and have already accepted the invitation. The invitation includes the members of the local commandery, their wives and women friends.

The local Knights are making an attempt to get a special train over the Big Four for that occasion. The special will require fifty people and at present the committee in charge has found thirty-five who will attend.
It is very likely that the special train will be obtained.

The Knights Templar are planning to attend the Grand Commandery in Indianapolis next week and delegates from the Rushville commandery have been appointed. They are William C. McColgin, William L. King and James V. Young. The New Castle
Times says in regard to the Ascension Day plans.

Masons of this and surrounding cities are making preparations for the observance of Ascension Sunday. It will be held at Knightstown and will be a big event in Masonry.
Several hundred are expected to attend from this city, Rushville, Knightstown and Greenfield. It is possible that the local Knights will tend from this city, Rushville, possible that the local Knights will secure a special car over the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern line.
The day's program will include impressive services at one of the churches. The observance will be held on Sunday, May 21.

The annual conclave will be held at Indianapolis next week, and this event will draw a number of Knights Templar from this city.

The conclave will be held in the Masonic temple and will be attended by Knights Templar from all parts of the State. The attendance from this city will not be confined to the three delegates but others will attend.

For both the Ascension Day observance at Knightstown and the conclave in Indianapolis, the Knights Templar are looking forward in expectation of a pleasant and profitable meeting from a fraternal standpoint and otherwise.

We Warn You Not to Wait!

If you would avoid foot troubles in hot weather you must buy those new shoes
while it's cool, because it is almost impossible to fit feet properly when they are swollen and perspiring from the heat. Even if you don't want to wear low shoes now, BUY THEM ANYWAY.
You'll be better satisfied because you will have shoes that fit you, and you'll have them ready to wear the very first warm day we have. Surely you must see that it is to your advantage to do this. Come in and look over

Confidence

Do You Know Wall Paper? No.
Do You Know Paint? No.

If you are not a judge of these things, the best place to buy them is the place that you have the most confidence in.

If you have more confidence in F. B.
Johnson & Co. than you have in some one else, that is the place to buy your goods.
If not, buy where you have the most confidence. If a man contracts to paint your house with the best of material, you expect that material to stand the wear. If it doesn't, will he make good?

Place your confidence somewhere and buy your Wall Paper and Paint.

President Schrichte.

Tony Schrichte has many times proved "beyond a reasonable doubt" that he has more enthusiasm along the lines of larger and greater Rushville than any other man in the city. He is filled with good ideas and he expresses them with such force that they are very impressive. He is always thinking of the betterment of the city and he never fails to introduce that phase at a meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association.

Last night he made a sound, logical talk to the business men urging them to be boosters and not knockers. He exhorted them not to listen to the "old fogies," but be bright and industrious. Rushville may think that she has many antiquated citizens within her corporate limits, but it is no doubt true that other cities are afflicted with the same malady. They have overcome that and literally set down on the peevish citizens who can see no good in anything.

It is predicted that the merchants will accomplish more than they ever have under the leadership of President Schrichte. He is so imbued with the bigger Rushville idea that he must always get some of it out of his system at the meetings of the association. He never fails to impress his hearers. He is convincing and he is bound to inspire someone.

Long live President Schrichte.

The idea of Will Bliss, expressed at the merchants' meeting last night, that the lighting of the street lights should come on the night of the first "Big Wednesday," is a fine one. The Daily Republican has always maintained that the consummation of such an achievement as the acquiring of the decorative lights should not be passed by as an ordinary occurrence. It should be celebrated in a fitting manner.

The celebration could come at no better time than on the night of the first bargain day of the season. Plans should be laid to make it a gala day and advertisement should be sent broadcast to attract people here from all surrounding counties. The new street lights will place Rushville in a class by itself for no city in the State of Indiana near the size of this city can brag of such beautiful lights.

Since the age when armor-clad knights battled in closed arenas for the favors of fair ladies, it has been considered customary for man to rebuff outraged femininity, but not so in Rushville. When knighthood was in its healthiest state, gentlemen fought duels to appease the wrath of insulted womanhood, but the twentieth century in America has produced a new code of morals, so it seems. It has always been considered to be in very good taste and to be the highly conventional thing, to say the least, for the stronger masculine to protect the weaker sex. Yesterday in police court a Rushville fan was fined one dollar and costs for striking a man who insulted a young woman. Such, it seems, is the trend of the times.

The cost of dinner for two at New York's new theater restaurant, the Folies-Bergere, is put at $21.80. And yet $12 a week wages in the city looks big to the farmer's boy.

The Hoe book sale in New York has already netted $400,000, but we would not dare offer the second hand book stall $40 for an equal supply of the world's wisdom nuggets.

Senator Crane is said to have brought the warring senatorial factions together. He must have stocked the pie counter with the kind that mother used to make.

The new pictures in the French salons are said to be conservative. Perhaps then you can tell the difference between a sunset and a plate of carrots.

It is useless to say the unwritten law is not binding, when none of us will wear a straw hat in summer weather if it happens to come before June 1.

There is no time like the present time is a trite saying, but it fits the occasion. Now is the ideal time to get out the road drag.

COVERS SALARY.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State board of health, has received an opinion from the attorney-general to the effect that a part of an appropriation of $5,000 made by the control of infectious diseases may be used to pay the salary of a special health officer to have charge of the investigation. The sum was appropriated especially for the purpose of investigating and arresting the spread of infantil paralysis.

CHAPTER XVII.

A TOUCH of bright color and a glittering eye were visible now in the crack of the door. The apparition which confronted him proved to be Lillian Breed, slender but exquisitely rounded in the silk kimono which revealed her white throat and her shapely forearms, warm against the soft crimson fabric. Her dainty feet were incased in fur edged slippers of red felt. Her hair and her eyes seemed blacker than ever. Her face, a perfect oval, was warmed by the rich color of abundant blood. Her pointed chin was dimpled, and her scarlet lips were curved in a smile, half of mischief and half of delight. "Lillian!" gasped Kelvin.

Her eyes sparkling, she put her fingers upon her lips and noiselessly closed her own door, then Phillip's, behind her, then advanced to him with outstretched hands. He took them in his own as matter of course, but held her at arm's length.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded. "Have you gone mad?"

"Not at all," she laughed gayly. "I'm quite sane and sensible, thank you. It was lonesome at Forest Lakes, so I brought Mrs. Rensselaer up to chaperon me for a week's shopping, and just now, after making sure that you would be quite alone for the rest of the evening, I have merely dropped in to have a chat with my old friend."

"Mrs. Rensselaer? Where is she?" asked Phillip.

"Sound asleep and snoring in her own apartment, which is on the other side of mine, with the bathroom between and my door locked. I attended to that, all right, you may be sure. You don't seem at all glad to see me, though," and she pouted with much coquetry.

"I'm not," answered Phillip, pushing her away almost roughly. "This is the utmost folly. You must return to your own room, and in the morning you must move to some other floor or I shall. No; you must go to some other hotel!"

"I shan't move from the hotel," she said, looking up into his eyes and laughing as she shook her head. "I shan't move from these apartments. I shan't move from this room even until I get ready to go. Phillip, I have been ordered around like a child ever since I can remember, and now I'm going to revolt. I'm going to have the things I want, right or wrong, and among them I'm going to have you!"

"Lillian!" he gasped and drew back from her. And yet he could not look down upon her flushed cheeks, upon her moist, red lips, upon the rounded column of her throat, with revolt.

"You are a conqueror," Lillian went on, drawing closer. "Your hand is the hand of might, the hand that could grasp and wield with relentless power either sword or scepter. You do not know how I, too, love power and all that represents power. I love it so much that I could worship it even while it crushed and destroyed me. The very strength of these arms I want for mine."

Her own arm had slipped up and slid around his neck, and suddenly she had clasped both of them about him and clung to him. For a moment longer he resisted, and then he suddenly crushed her to him and rained kisses upon her smooth brow, her silken eyelids, her burning cheeks, her soft lips.

Backache Means Dying Kidneys

A Remarkable Treatment That Saves the Kidneys. How You May Cure Yourself Quickly and Thoroughly.

With the progress of science comes one remarkable treatment for kidney diseases. It has been thoroughly tested and its results have proven so revolutionary that a well-known firm in Michigan has undertaken its distribution into every part of the country.

Those who suffer from kidney trouble and the diseases resulting from it will be pleased to know that every package of this treatment is thoroughly guaranteed. This should assure at last a positive cure to every sufferer.

Every man and woman should know that backache is usually a well-defined symptom of advancing kidney disease which may end fatally unless treated in time; that rheumatism and bladder trouble are caused from nothing more nor less than kidneys that do not filter the poison from the blood; that dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder-stones are caused by bad kidneys.

Once they are made to work properly, these diseases should quickly disappear.

This is done by the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills.

We urge everyone who has pain in the small of the back, profuse or scanty urination, pains in the bladder, cloudy or foul urine, not to fail to get a package today of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills and drop all other kidney treatments. Senator Stevenson, of Washington, writes from Olympia: "There is no question about the efficacy of Dr. Derby's Pure Kidney Pills in curing kidney and bladder trouble. I know whereof I speak."

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are now sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents. If you would like to try them first, ask your druggist for a free sample package. Then buy a package; you will not regret it.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger.

Backache is kidney danger.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store, I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness disappeared and I was in much better health. I can not say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills for relief. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I gladly endorse them again."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Kelvin met Mrs. Rensselaer and Lillian at breakfast, and they talked of the opera and gowns, of automobiles and an international wedding. After breakfast he bought the political control of an entire state with the litigative clientage of a thousand miles of railroad. He met in the hall of his floor Elsie White, and whatever anguish it gave his soul to meet now this girl who had loved him, and loved him yet, in all purity and tenderness, he talked calmly with her, chatting pleasantly about her father's garden at Forest Lakes. He let a contract for $1,000,000 worth of grading and cement sidewalks. He saw Sam and Lucy laughing in the servants' elevator, understood Sam's hilarity of the night before and had an inkling of how his door had come to be unlocked. He went to the theater at night with Mrs. Rensselaer and Lillian, and after they had returned and Mrs. Rensselaer had retired a soft footed hallman listened to the low voices in Phillip's apartments and sent a cipher message to George Blagg, who was hollow eyed and pale with suffering—and murderous!

On the following day Phillip, alone with Sam in the wilderness of Long Island, was shot at. Scarcely had the report sounded when Sam, crouching low to the ground like an animal and running with neck and head and gorilla-like arms outstretched, plunged into the woods. He was gone fully an hour and rejoined Phillip at the station. His eyes were bloodshot and he was panting, while his lips twitched back over his teeth now and then, but he was smiling. Phillip, studying his face curiously, asked him no questions, and Sam volunteered no information.

At the end of the week Lillian went back to lonely Forest Lakes. Where Kelvin and Rollins and Herbert Rensselaer had helped to enliven the huge empty house and the immense acreage, it, too, empty except for the small army of gaunt and grizzled woodsmen, who, with guns slung comfortably in their arms, kept close sentry, now there remained but Henry Breed and George Blagg and Dr. Zelphian. Zelphian met her first as she came up on the porch, peering at her through his thick glasses with the same curious regard that he would have given to a strange and brilliantly colored insect. Suddenly his eyes lighted as they caught her glance. For an instant these two looked into each other's souls, and Lillian felt her cheeks burning. But in an instant more she had closed those portals of her inmost consciousness and bestowed upon him a stare of willful insolence.

Lillian stopped for a moment in the dim old library, where Henry Breed sat in absorbed contemplation, his old, well-thumbed Bible open before him.

"Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath," he solemnly intoned, "and behold every one that is proud and abase him. Look on every one that is proud and bring him low, and tread down the wicked in their place."

As he finished a look of intense malignity overspread his emaciated features. The girl was shocked at the change that had taken place in him during her one week of absence.

"Grandfather," she said, sweeping toward him with the quick decision that characterized her. "You are spending too much time in this stuffy old room, since there is no one here but Zelphian. It is perfectly glorious outdoors. The car is still outside. I want you to come and ride with me."

She had put her hand upon his shoulder, and the touch seemed to arouse him instantly. He gazed at her with a slow return of his habitually shrewd expression.

"You are looking charming," he commented. "Your trip has done you good. Did you see Kelvin?" There was eagerness in the question.

"Yes, indeed," she replied. "He's accomplishing wonders."

"I know," he said and glanced at a pile of wireless telegrams strung upon a desk hook that lay at his right hand. "He's a marvelous young man that. He is the instrument of Providence, placed in my hands against the day of chastisement and purification and of the new birth."

"I don't know about that," returned Lillian dryly. "I am rather inclined to think that you are the instrument in his hand."

"The tail cannot wag the dog," said Breed, smiling. "The things Kelvin aims to do for himself are the things I want him to do for my own ends, and if he ever gets too big for me I'll break him as I would any other efficient but dangerous tool. But tell me about him."

"Wait until I run up and get into something more comfortable than these traveling clothes, and then I'll go out and drive around through the park with you and talk."

Lillian hurried to her apartments, where she found Elsie White standing before a photograph of Phillip. Lillian smiled cruelly as she viewed this tableau and stood silent until Elsie, feeling her presence in the room, turned slowly, a flush of crimson mounting to her brow as she met Lillian's gaze.

"He's a handsome fellow, isn't he?" Lillian observed carelessly as Elsie began to smooth out her hair.

"Who?" asked Elsie quietly.

Lillian glanced sardonically at Elsie in the glass, but the girl back of her had her eyes bent steadily upon her work.

"Kelvin," answered Lillian. "He's built like an Adonis and muscled like a young Hercules, but the touch of his hands, strong as they are, is like velvet." She was keeping her cold eyes now steadily fixed upon those other eyes veiled beneath their downcast lids and that cruel smile sat fixedly upon her mouth. "His lips"—she lingered over the item with a relish, still watching that pale face—"his lips are cool and firm"—the hands busily engaged with her black tresses trembled slightly—"but suddenly they are like fire. I think I shall marry him! Elsie! You hurt me dreadfully that time! You are becoming more and more clumsy every day. I am afraid that I shall have to discharge you." And, having inflicted all the pain that she could, she went down the hall singing blithely. A stranger hearing her would have thought that there was nothing but gentleness and guileless joy in her heart.

She stopped in at Blagg's office. He had heard her coming. He was receiving a message at the time and the light of the tubes gave to his emaciated face a ghastly wanless. As she entered he only glanced up with smoldering hate. Lillian smiled back in all her witchery at that black look. She knew that she had never been more beautiful than now. She knew that her beauty was a perpetual torment to this man and in the absence of more entertaining prey she had toyed with him as a cat does with a captured and wing broken bird.

"You don't seem half glad to see me, Mr. Blagg," she remonstrated.

"No!" he answered her, and his voice was tense and strained. "I wish you had never come back. I wish that you had died!"

"Oh, tut, tut," she said, laughing, though a glimmer came into her eyes. She was forewarned. "That is not a very cheerful reception. It seems to me that you are becoming old and peevish."

"I am," he asserted. "Lillian"—"Miss Breed, if you please," she corrected him.

"I'll call you by a less formal name than that if I like," he flared. "I know every step that you took while you were away."

"Indeed," she said pleasantly, realizing for the first time that there was some basis for the hints that Blagg had often given her of a powerful organization of which he was the head.

Her calmness angered him. "Whatever of awe I ever had for you is gone," he declared. "Whatever of respect I ever had for you is swept away. Whatever of love I felt is dead, now that I know you for what you are, now that you have made yourself common!"

"Be careful," she warned him. "It is not safe to talk that way to me."

"Safe or unsafe," he cried, "what do I care? I have died a thousand deaths in the past week, and I cannot be further harmed."

"Too bad," she murmured in mock sympathy. "Deaths among the lower orders of the animal kingdom seemed quite common last week. They just found one poor fool in the Long Island woods this morning. He looked like a workingman. A revolver was by his side, but he had not been shot. He had been strangled. That's a bad place down there. Somebody shot at Kelvin there earlier in the week, but it was a foolish waste of ammunition. Kelvin bears a charmed life. By the way, you have not yet stated what has made this alleged tremendous change in you." She looked at him mockingly, a half smile upon her lips.

"Are you daring me?" he cried, his nervous tension increased to the breaking point by her recital of the failure of his plans, the first news he had received of it.

"Tell me," she defied him.

"Have you not made yourself Kelvin's mistress?"

He had expected to overwhelm her with this, to meet her indignant denial, to have to brave her fury. Instead she let her half veiled eyes rest cruelly upon him and walked toward the door.

"Yes," she said.

He recoiled as though she had struck him a mortal blow. Rigid and immovable as he would ever be in death he sat, and from the stairway there floated up to his numbed ears a gay little song that Lillian lightly hummed as she tripped down to the library.

CURES CATARRH

Also Coughs, Colds, Croup and Sore Throat.

F. B. Johnson & Co., guarantees HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) to cure catarrh, acute or chronic; to cure colds, coughs, croup and sore throat, or money back.

In cases of deafness caused by catarrh, there is no remedy so efficient.

HYOMEI is a liquid extracted from the eucalyptus trees of Australia, and inside and outside are greatly exercised over the manner in which their own resources remain locked up against them. The fuel thrown into the harbor was the property of the Copper River and Northwestern railroad.

A complete HYOMEI outfit consisting of a bottle of HYOMEI and indistructible hard rubber pocket inhaler costs $1.00. For treating catarrh or any throat or nose ailment, pour a few drops into the inhaler and breathe.

That's all you have to do, and as the air passes through the inhaler it becomes impregnated with antiseptic HYOMEI, and is soothing, healing air as it passes into the lungs reaches every particle of the inflamed membrane, kills the germs and heals the raw, sore catarrhal spots.

If you now own a HYOMEI inhaler you can buy an extra bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents at F. B. Johnson or druggists everywhere. Free sample trial treatment, from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

It is officially denied at Madrid that King Alfonso is ill.
